

Unified Communications

With Unified Communications, you can keep your business moving when you're on the move.

Intelliverse® Unified Communications

Unified Communications translates into cost savings and revenue gains for your company by integrating all of the following communications tools busy professionals need: VOICEMAIL, FAX AND LIVE CALLING.

Whether you are at the office or on the go, Unified Communications provides you with all the tools you need to better manage your day.

How Does Unified Communications Work:

Unified Communications combines all of the features and benefits of voicemail, one number, and voice/fax to email services. Whether using a smartphone or computer, staying connected from anywhere is as easy as 1-2-3.

- Program your "find me" numbers into your account.
  - » Forward live calls to as many as six numbers
  - » Privately screen calls - accept or send to voicemail
- Provide your email and receive voice and fax messages via email.

Benefits:

- Give out only one number to receive phone and fax messages
- Check all your different messages in one place (voice, fax, email)
- Access your messages from the phone or computer
- Screen incoming calls before connecting or sending to voicemail
- Archive all customer communications, including voice and fax messages, in folders for future reference
- Get rid of multiple phone lines and voicemail, slash long distance and conference call costs and consolidate all phone lines into one number.

Features:

- Digital mailbox for voice and fax messages
- Voicemail sent to your existing email
- Fax to your existing email
- Find me / Follow me locator
- Call screening
- Works with your existing phone numbers and email address
